Audo introduces the Converge Book Ends

Designed as the finishing touch in a space, Colin King's object collection for Audo is as decorative as it is functional. Case in point: the new Converge Book Ends. Profiling a recurrent theme of balance and connection, "[Converge is] designed as a functional sculpture to have a strong presence when interlocked and an equally compelling spirit when apart," notes King on his sculptural design. Shaped from lava stone, the dark, porous texture lends an intriguing look and feel, creating the perfect fusion of old and new.

About the Designer

Professionally trained as a dancer, Colin King found himself at the intersection between a dancer's awareness of space and a stylist's impulse to bring it to life before foraying into the realm of product design. Currently based in Tribeca, New York City, he finds himself in a balance between being on set, styling and designing from his studio. Colin has styled for major publications such as Architectural Digest and T Magazine and hosts a myriad clientele within the genres of product and interior design. He is continuously inspired by life's everyday rituals, gestures and imperfections – made beautiful by their ever-evolving presence within a given space. Colin King is the designer behind Interconnect, Audo's monumental candleholder design.
